Europe-wide
Citizens'
Initiative

We need one million signatures!

Across Europe, millions of animals are used in experiments each year in tests that frequently inflict suffering, which can be severe, but don't deliver on their main promise, which is better health for humans.

We need this suffering to end – for the animals and for better medicine, better product safety and better environmental protection.

We want to see humane, human-relevant, animal-free science properly funded and fully utilised. To achieve this, a concrete roadmap to phase out animal testing is needed.

With a 97% majority, the European Parliament asked the EU Commission to work out such a phase-out plan. Now, we have to show the Commission that the EU citizens do not want animal testing either. A European Citizens' Initiative (ECI) is a tool that EU citizens can use to request changes to the law. To get Brussels to act, we need one million signatures!
